21 WARSHIPS READY TO SHELL HANKOW
Washington, April 7 (I.N.S.).—The guns of 21 foreign warships are concentrated on Hankow because of the extreme tension that continues there and the fears that rioting may be renewed at any time, Consul-General Lockhart advised the State Department today.

EX-PASTOR ON TRIAL ON GIRL'S CHARGE
Hobbling on two canes, Rev. Guy W. Holmes, unfrocked New Bedford pastor, entered Superior Court and was placed on trial today, a statutory offence being charged. ex pleaded not guilty.

AMERICAN TELEPHONE AT NEW TOP
Stocks were churned about in a rapid fashion on a large volume in New York, but fluctuations in recognized leaders were not wide save in a few instances. American Telephone rose nearly 4 points to 172 3-8, the highest in 22 years, while New York Central reached 150 3-8. Fox Film A was liquidated freely on announcement of new financing, losing 4 3-8.

MRS. CABANA GETS $16 PER WEEK ALIMONY AND CUSTODY OF CHILDREN

Portland, Me., April 7.—Mrs. Mabel J. Cabana of South Portland was granted her divorce today from Guy E. Cabana, ministerial aspirant, whom she accused of being too friendly with Anna Gilpatrick Place, "singing evangelist."

The verdict handed down by Judge Arthur Chapman, before whom Mrs. Cabana's divorce was filed April 5, was a week's alimony, $16 for counsel fees and the custody of the three Cabana children.

Mrs. Cabana sued for divorce on the grounds of cruel and abusive treatment, but also named Miss Place as "the other woman," and much interesting testimony relative to her alleged "singing evangelist" was given at the trial.

The wife, however, testified that, having discovered her husband and Miss Place in an infidelity, she later forgave her husband and "the other woman," and much interesting testimony relative to her alleged "singing evangelist" was given at the trial.

ADMIRAL HOUGH WARNS OF NEW PERIL IN CHINA

Washing, April 7 (A.P.).—Dr. Y. K. Whiting Koo tendered his resignation as Premier today to Marshal Duan, Tzu-lin. It is reported that General Yang Yur-Ting, China's chief adviser, will become Premier.

Washington, April 7 (A.P.).—Foreign conditions at Hankow, more than 200 miles above Nanjing on the Yangtze River, shared the centre of interest in developments in China today with the attitude to be taken by the Moscow government over raids by Chinese authorities at Peking on Russian property within the diplomatic compound.

Rear Admiral Hough, commander of the American Yangtze fleet, reported the situation at Hankow as "very bad." Another message, Please Turn to Page 4, Column 2.

HOLTZER MILLIONS GO TO WIDOW AND TOLERS

The widow, scores of employees and charitable institutions, hospitals, schools and students all will benefit under the will of Charles Holtzer of Brockton and Boston, millionaire electrical accessories manufacturer. It was revealed when the will was filed in Dedham Probate Court today.

Three bulk of the estate, believed to reach into many millions, will go to Mrs. Barbara Holtzer, the widow, together with 500 shares of capital stock in the Holtzer Electric Company in Amory street, Jamaica Plain, of which Mr. Holtzer was president.

To every employee of the company for the past 20 years, $100 is bequeathed; to every employee of twenty-five to thirty years $250 is given; twenty to twenty-five years, $100; and less than twenty years, $50.

There is a stipulation made that the money be used to improve the education of the children of the company and that the money be used to improve the education of the children of the company and that the money be used to improve the education of the children of the company.

Receives also the rest and residue of the estate, a fortune estimated at $1,000,000.

JARDINE SAYS N. E. HAS BEST QUALITY MARKET

In New England is the world's best market for quality agricultural products, W. M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture, told the Chamber of Commerce members today at a luncheon of the chamber.

"New England farmers have within a short shipping distance nearly one-fifth of the total population of the United States," the agricultural promoter for the nation pointed out.

"If New England farmers have realized that their conditions are not adapted to extensive grain farming in competition with the West, but that they are adapted to the raising of high quality products, there is opportunity for New England to further improve its agriculture. What New England wants to do is to produce for the competition of other regions. It can do with other products what it is now doing with potatoes and onions."

"Eighty per cent. of Boston's potatoes and 90 per cent. of its onions are shipped immediately."

'ARMY' OF 300 TO GUARD COURT AS VANZETTI AND SACCO HEAR THEIR DOOM

State troopers and city police, on foot, on horseback, on motorcycles and in automobiles—300 in number—will guard the delivery of Bartolomeo Vanzetti from the Charlestown State Prison to the East Dedham Courthouse Saturday, when the death sentence will be pronounced on Vanzetti and his co-conspirator, Nicola Sacco.

The police guard that accompanies Vanzetti to East Dedham will act as a guard about the courthouse as the men are sentenced.

No one save newspapermen and court officials will be permitted in the court building and proceedings will be rushed so that the prisoners may be returned to their cells within the shortest space possible.

Vanzetti will be shackled to Daniel Griffin, Charlestown state prison guard on his trip to the East Dedham courthouse. Griffin, during his long term of years as a prison guard, has had custody of many notable criminals. He is known as "Vanzetti's Dan" among the guards at the Charlestown prison.

The slayers are scheduled to appear before the court at 10 a. m. Please Turn to Page 2, Column 1.

W. K. VANDERBILT, 2ND., IS SUING WIFE IN PARIS

Copyright, 1927, International News Service.
Paris, April 7.—The matrimonial difficulties of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt 2nd have reached the Paris divorce courts, it was learned today.

Action for a divorce or separation for the Vanderbilts has been filed with the Seine Tribunal.

The court has ordered the appearance of both parties or their lawyers before a conciliation tribunal. The former effort to reconcile the two parties is set for next week and is the usual French legal procedure prior to the actual granting of a decree.

In the event of the conciliation trial failing in its efforts, a decree of divorce will be granted. Please Turn to Page 2, Column 5.

100 BOY SCOUTS TO AID POLICE IN GIRL HUNT

Lawrence, April 7.—More than 100 Lawrence Boy Scouts were awaiting the call of City Marshal O'Brien today to comb the woods and river banks near the city in search of 17-year-old Lillian Fellows, who vanished Sunday after penning a farewell note to her mother.

The circumstances of the girl's disappearance, which is said by her parents to have followed a misunderstanding with her sweetheart last week, have added grounds to the suspicion that she may have contemplated suicide.

The flying squadron from police headquarters again today took up the periodic patrolling of both banks of the Merrimack River, the banks and the Spicket River and police of the river towns and cities were urged to be on the lookout.

Herbert Kagle of Andover, a worker for the Lawrence Police, was arrested today. Please Turn to Page 2, Column 4.

The Brunswick Not Sold

That this well-known and popular hotel has been sold to a large department store in Boston is emphatically denied, and rumors to the contrary are unwarranted.

Plans are now under way to make improvements that will further enhance the attractiveness of the famous Egyptian Room.

The special $2.00 dinner now being served in the Egyptian Room with no dinner time cover charge, is a pronounced success.

Leo Reisman and his orchestra served in the Egyptian Room with music and play from 9:30 P. M. to 1 A. M.

The broad policy which has built the success of both the Lenox and Brunswick Hotels will continue, who rates the same as in the past twelve years, irrespective of season or special events.

FIGHT TO FINISH DEFEAT

near before Judge Webster Thayer at 10 A.M. and no step has been taken by the Massachusetts authorities to prevent any attempt that might be made to rescue the men by their Communist sympathizers.

Sacco was confined to the East for more than six years awaiting final outcome of his case. Vanzetti, however, has been confined at the Charlestown State Prison in which institution he was sentenced on a burglary charge preferred after he was arrested charged with the slaying of the South Braintree newspaper man and his assistant in 1920.

FEAR A DEMONSTRATION.

The Boston police department openly fear a radical demonstration when Vanzetti is taken from Charlestown to the Dedden house for execution. For this reason no preparations have been neglected for guarding the convicted slayer.

Radicals who are members of the Sacco-Vanzetti Defense Committee are at least free of resentment to the police because the members of the committee were stopped and searched for weapons by policemen when they started to enter the hall at No. 244 Janover street, where the committee had its meeting.

Several of the committeemen, merchants and citizens of high repute, said they will carry the matter to the Commissioner of the State and demand an investigation to determine on whose orders they were searched, and by what authority.

RADICALS ARE BOUNDED.

Two men members of the committee, who were particularly indignant at the search for arms, were Joseph Rondo and August Hodel, well-known contractors of New England. They were stopped, and when they got out of an automobile outside the hall, and were "frisked" for weapons.

The incident added to the flame kindled when the Supreme Court denied a new trial to Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, the men condemned to death for the South Braintree payroll murders.

All over the country indignation meetings are being called and the case comes in Indian Saturday. The Defense Committee, in a ringing statement, placed itself on record as being ready to fight to the last ditch to save the men from the death-chair. The members made it apparent that they have little hope in a rehearing of the petition for a new trial by the Supreme Court of Massachusetts even if William C. Thompson, counsel for the two men, decides that such a measure would be of service.

Likewise, they made it apparent that they have little hope in any possible action by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Their whole appeal, according to their present plans, is to public sentiment and its possible effect on Governor Fuller, on whose shoulders rest the sole hope of the men escaping the chair.

A monster petition will be circulated throughout the United States, the hundreds of thousands of names to be submitted to Governor Fuller before he makes the final decision. Speakers of international fame, men of high standing in literature and every other line, will address these meetings, while in every city in the country volunteers working will be enlisted in the work of obtaining the names for the petition.

Meanwhile the vigilance of the state stationed about every man and every building connected with the case is continued. Judge Webster Thayer makes no move that

Frankfurter on Sacco Case

THE Sacco-Vanzetti case has again been brought to the fore by the denial of their appeal by the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Immediately on the landing down of this decision, international interest was awakened in the fight that has been on for six years to save these men from the electric chair.

From England, France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and South American countries the cables report a flaming interest in this case.

In line with its policy of presenting all matters as fully as possible, the Boston Evening American has arranged for the publication of a legal analysis of the trial of these men.

This analysis was made by Felix Frankfurter, LL. B., instructor in Law in Harvard University and one of the best known lawyers and instructors in law in the East.

In presenting Dr. Frankfurter's analysis, the Boston Evening American in no degree either adopts or sponsors it. It is presented solely as the work of a keen legal mind in order that all phases of this story may be understood.

The first chapter of Dr. Frankfurter's work, through the courtesy of Little-Brown & Co., will be presented tomorrow.

British Labor Organ Plays Sacco Finding

London, April 7 (AP)—The Socialist Daily Herald, labor organ, bitterly assails the action of the Massachusetts Supreme Court in refusing Sacco and Vanzetti a new trial.

"The Supreme Court has, in effect, passed the final sentence of death on two men of whose innocence there is scarcely a shred of a doubt," it claims.

The Daily Herald charges that Sacco and Vanzetti were "victims of the deliberate police policy to get rid of two men regarded as undesirable because they were vigorous fighters in the cause of the foreign born workers in the United States."

After urging the Governor of Massachusetts to pardon Sacco and Vanzetti the Daily Herald concludes: "If he does not—if Sacco and Vanzetti die—his and his State stand before the world as guilty of one of the most cold-blooded and most deliberate judicial crimes in the annals of 'justice' and the working class movement of the world will know and mourn two more martyrs on the gallows."

LOWDEN BOOM IS UNDER WAY IN EAST

New York, April 7 (AP)—An organized effort to place ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois before the people as a Republican candidate for President was under way today in three Eastern States. The movement has been undertaken in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

Lowden, with the knowledge, but not the consent of Lowden, James R. Garrett, treasurer of the Lowden for President Association of New York, Inc., announced.

All officers of the association have been elected except a president. On the list, a New York lawyer and Democrat, in first vice-president, Arlo Wilson of Stamford, Ct., second vice-president, and Thomas R. Moffett of Summit, N. J., secretary and manager.

come from New England. But of the eggs received in Boston in 1926, only 7 per cent. came from New England, and of the eggs, only 17 per cent. of the chickens, 3 per cent. and of the chickens, 10 per cent. came from New England.

"New England can raise more eggs, especially clover and alfalfa, and this increase fertility of the soil and at the same time save heavy transportation costs on a bulky product."

And New England generally can reduce cost of production. Tests can be made to tell out the dairy cows that are low producers and that therefore give little cash return to the owner.

STANDARDIZED GOODS.

"Latest figures from Vermont show that a cow giving 2,000 pounds of milk a year pays the owner an income of $3 over cost of feed, while a cow giving 10,000 pounds pays a return of $18 above cost of feed."

"There is always a demand for fruit, vegetables, dairy products and poultry. The market, however, is growing constantly more critical. It wants standardization on the basis of high quality."

"I congratulate the agricultural committee of the New England Council on its plans to establish standards for locally grown high quality products."

Firebug Leads Out Horses Before He Sets Barn Ablaze

Worcester, April 7.—A firebug "with a heart" led two horses out of a barn in Fairfield street today, before he set the place, the flames destroying the barn, and some $4,000 worth of Oriental rugs which were stored inside.

The police and fire authorities are convinced that the fire was of incendiary origin and the fact that the two horses had been released strengthened this theory. The rugs, uninsured, were the property of the Maynard Cleaning and Upholstering Company.

The barn was owned by Thomas A. Bliss, whose automobile was destroyed by the flames.

The evangelist herself admitted on the witness stand that she had "loved you," to Cabana while she was preaching, but declared that the code was used as a joke on the judge's play at the evangelist's meeting.

WIFE IS A CATHOLIC.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, who was formerly Virginia Fair, is reported to be en-route to Paris and Vanderbilt has been cruising in the Mediterranean for several weeks and is frequently in French Riviera ports. It is understood that both parties will be in Paris when their divorce action comes before the courts.

Vanderbilt, on arriving in France several weeks ago, denied that he contemplated any divorce action, although admitting that he and his wife had been separated for some time.

In social circles it has long been understood that Vanderbilt desired a divorce in order that he might marry Mrs. Jameson Lancaster Warburton, who was divorced some months ago in Paris from Marjorie Warburton, Jr., of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Warburton is understood to have been a guest recently in a vacation party given by Vanderbilt.

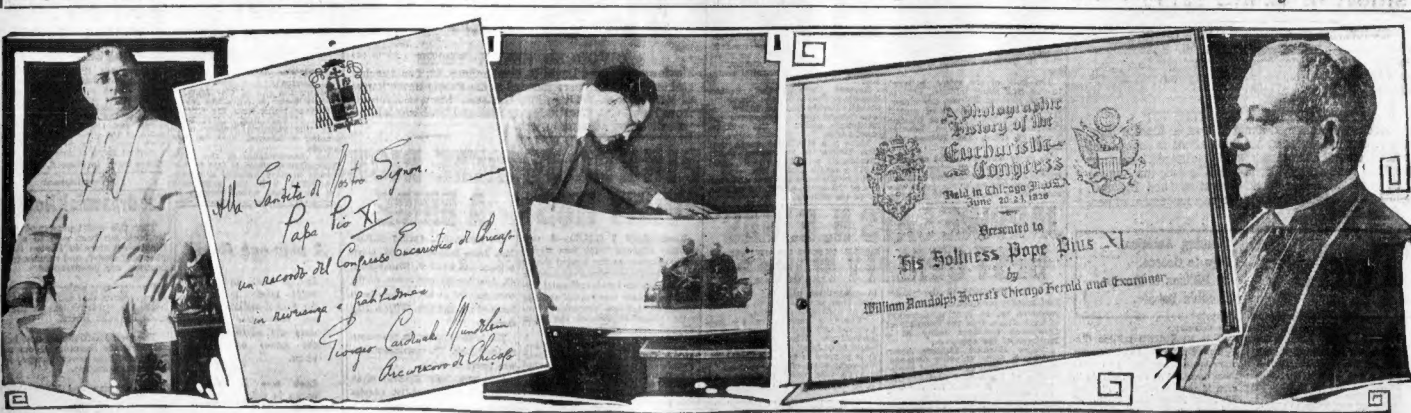

HUSBAND FILES SUIT.

Mrs. Vanderbilt as a Catholic and it has been said that she was opposed a divorce because of religious scruples and there have been reports that she would seek an annulment of her marriage by the Roman Tribunal.

It is understood that the divorce action was brought by Vanderbilt out of respect to Mrs. Vanderbilt's religious scruples.

Mrs. Anne for Lady Colman as a Catholic and who is the daughter of a wealthy family, is understood to have been a guest recently in a vacation party given by Vanderbilt.

FAVORS RETURN OF DOUBLE-DECK BUS

The Boston Elevated's double-deck buses, removed from the streets when the Department of Public Utilities ruled that they were over the legal height, may be allowed to operate again under a bill reported favorably today by the Legislative Committee on Street Railways.

This bill, partially an outgrowth of the bus quarrel, would allow operation on Massachusetts Highways of motor vehicles up to thirty-three feet overall length, subject to written consent of the authorities having charge of the road concerned.

When the Elevated double-deckers appeared on Hub streets, the Public Utilities Board, in its ruling barring the buses, also claimed that because of the enclosed top section and the method of reaching it, a fire and accident hazard was constituted.

Declares He Vowed to Kill Them Both

New York, April 7.—Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder will claim at her trial for murder that she broke off her romance with Henry Judd Gray last August and that he was so enraged he threatened to kill her and commit suicide, it was learned today from an authoritative source.

Letters passing between the widow and Gray will be offered to support this defense, the New York Evening Journal was informed.

According to the source which outlined Mrs. Snyder's case, she either tired of Gray last Summer or became alarmed over the possible discovery of their affair. She told him she was through.

A stormy scene followed, and Mrs. Snyder claims Gray warned her: "If you don't make up, I'll kill both of us."

Mrs. Snyder, it is expected, will claim that she had not "made up" with Gray at the time her husband, Albert, was slain in their Queens Village home.

GRAY TURNED TO NEW LOVE

In view of this new evidence, the appearance of the mysterious "Alice" in the case becomes more significant. Mrs. Snyder, it is said, will attempt to show that when she broke off with Gray he turned to "Alice," who is a buyer in a Philadelphia department store.

Edgar F. Hazelton, attorney for Mrs. Snyder, does not plan to discuss his client's case today except to say he does not want to confer with Samuel L. Miller, counsel for Gray. In view of Mrs. Snyder's defense plans, it is not considered likely that any sort of joint defense can be reached.

At the district attorney's office in Long Island City it was learned that finger prints will play a prominent part in the State's case.

MYSTERY WOMAN ENTERS CASE

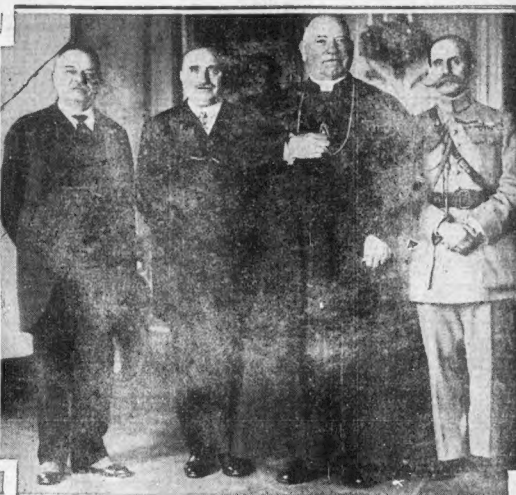

Prints have been obtained from the window sash weight which was used to kill Snyder. No information was forthcoming as to which of the accused the State hopes to link with these prints.

It was learned that tests also are being made of fingerprints found on the pillow case on which Snyder's head rested when he was slain. A woman mystery witness who dressed Mrs. Snyder's hair the day before the art editor was slain has given new important evidence against the widow and Gray, it was announced today by District-Attorney Newcombe.

The witness, described only as a "Mrs. Kauffmann," is understood to have related details of Mrs. Snyder's life as told by the widow herself. Other women who knew Mrs. Snyder also are to be questioned, especially about the gay parties which marked her romance with Gray, Newcombe said.

GENERAL NEWS SECTION

2 MAMMAS WANT ONE TOT; PAGE MR. SOLOMON

King Solomon in all his wisdom would have found a fit subject for his thought in Middlesex Probate Court, where two mothers, one actual, the other foster, battled for possession of a baby.

Little Mary, London, 4 years old, born in an infant asylum and taken into the home of Mrs. Mary Conant three years ago, listened wide-eyed while Mrs. Mary Lorch Murphy, her real mother, asked the court for her. Judge Arthur E. Bean heard the petition for both Mrs. Conant and Mrs. Murphy.

Mrs. Conant asked that she be given the child to adopt legally. Mrs. Murphy, married since she bore the baby, says she now has a home for her baby.

Mrs. Murphy testified Mary was born October 24, 1922, she said she went to her father's home, leaving the baby, Mary Lorch, in the infant asylum. Her father, she said, told her to take the baby home. Then she met Glenn Milton Murphy and they were married. Now she lives in Waban street, Newton, and is ready to give the baby a home. Her husband testified he did not know about the baby until last September, but that he was willing to rear little Mary and give her a good home.

Mrs. Conant appealed for Mary with tears in her eyes.

ROGER TAKES VENGEANCE—Samuel Manton faced Roger Stung. "What is the meaning of this intrusion, sir?" he demanded. "Your manners," he added sarcastically, "are hardly suitable to a gentleman's house, and I must ask you to leave the same way you came in. If you must see me, I finished grimly, 'you know where my office is located.' Roger listened in silence, a bitter smile twisting the corners of his mouth. As Manton stepped forward the boy's arm shot out. His fist caught the millionaire on the jaw. Manton went down.

HELEN ARRIVES—Rosallind screamed and ran to the fallen man. "Oh, Roger," she moaned, "why did you do it?" Young Hope took a step forward. "Then he turned dejectedly away. What was the use? The recurrent thought of Rosallind's presence here in Manton's home flamed his rage. The spectacle of her kneeling before him heaped fuel on the flames. Startled by a footstep, he turned to see Helen enter the room. "I followed you," she said breathlessly. Then she halted in amazement. "Why," she cried, "what has happened?"

THE QUARREL—Rosallind turned with a glad cry to Helen. "Oh, I'm so glad you're here," she exclaimed, burying her head on her shoulders. Helen's arms went sympathetically around the girl. Then she turned to Roger. "What happened?" she asked again. Briefly, he told her. When he came to the part where he had struck Rosallind's employer, the girl turned reproachful eyes on him. "I think that it was heavy and unwarranted," she accused. "Mr. Manton merely asked me down here in order to clear up some important correspondence."

C. E. HUGHES TO ADVISE FULLER

Regardless of what action the House may take on the Elevated control bill, now passed by the Senate, Governor Fuller will have the assistance of Charles Evans Hughes, former United States Secretary of State, in considering every aspect of the case before he approves or disapproves the bill when it comes before him.

The Governor has already asked Hughes to aid him on this important piece of legislation, the former Secretary being the outstanding authority in the country on such questions.

Meanwhile the real fight over the bill will be waged at the public hearing to be conducted by the House Ways and Means Committee at the State House next week.

As the case now stands the bill providing for public control of the road for the next 25 years has passed the Senate, the only feature of the bill remaining being an amendment whereby the guaranteed dividend to stockholders be cut from 5% to 3 percent.

The real argument that stood that of cutting the dividends, was offered by Senator Harrington. Hughes, in saying that the amendment would result in large losses to the road.

SAPIRO BARES LEGAL FEES

Detroit, April 7 (U.S.A.)—Revelations of the gross income paid Aaron Sapiro, so-called cooperative king by American farmers in the last decade, will have the assistance of Charles Evans Hughes, former United States Secretary of State, in considering every aspect of the case before he approves or disapproves the bill when it comes before him.

The cooperative king, however, received $20,250 in fees since 1912.

His real proved a dud as Sapiro showed by his account books that the employment for the two organizations came in different years, and that he never represented both at the same time. The average farmer rushed the exchange and Sapiro helped him, capitalists the deal.

NURSE HELD AS HOUSE THIEF

Police of half a dozen cities and the state police today are trying to trace valuable loot stolen in the Boston street, Brighton, home of James H. Rand, a male nurse, and also the home of his sister in Salem. Hand has been indicted by Middlesex County Grand Jury on four counts of larceny from the home of Harold C. Whitney of Watertown, former chairman of the Watertown Board of Selectmen. The alleged thefts took place last October when Hand was nursing the Watertown official through an illness.

Police charge that Hand has systematically looted the homes of a number of prominent persons who have employed him as a nurse.

Much Smoke Is a Sign or Some Fire; Here's a Spark Anyway

Clear smokers threaten a split in the Citizens' Association of Brighton, a suburb, with women members contemplating holding separate meetings to keep from being suffocated.

The men smoke an out-it is so thick, the smoke, that we can't even see one another, much less talk," said a letter to President Yarrow of the Federation of Washington Citizens Association asking permission to form a separate women's organization.

The men smoked cigars and although one woman suggested, the letter asked "what can cigarette smoke do against cigar smoke?"

NEW PLANE IS BEING RUSHED TO PINEDO

boy dropped a match on the oil covered water.

The Italian flyer and his two companions were enthusiastic over the prospect of continuing the flight in a plane ordered shipped from Italy by Premier Mussolini. It may be rushed to America by an Italian destroyer. Although plans for the new route were only in the tentative stage today, the Pinedo had definitely decided to assemble the replacement part after the plane was assembled at New York he hoped to fly to Boston, thence to Washington and New Orleans. He would then travel north to St. Louis and Chicago, where he may take off for Montreal.

De Pinedo Scouts Plot of Fascists in Plane Loss

Aspen Lodge, Roosevelt Dam, Ariz., April 7 (A.P.)—Commander Francesco de Pinedo, whose plane was destroyed by fire here yesterday afternoon, does not believe the accident was the result of an anti-Fascist plot.

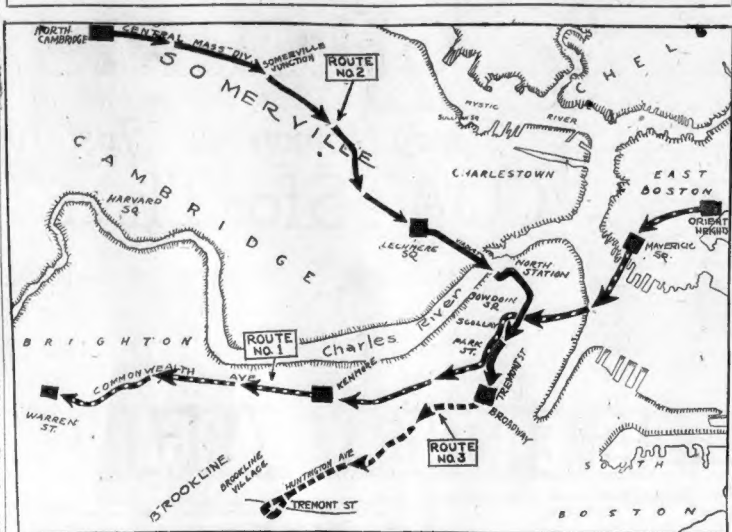

Every possible effort to ally such accusations, as expressed by some Home newspaper, will be made by the Fascist aviator, whose four-continent flight has been delayed pending arrival of a new ship, he told The Associated Press today.

New York, April 7 (A.P.)—Fascist and anti-Fascist leaders today discredited Home newspaper comment that destruction of De Pinedo's plane was the work of anti-Fascist agents.

"I don't think any Italian, even an anti-Fascist, would be capable of a 'thin like this,'" said Count Immanuel Di Rossi, president of the Fascist League of North America.

How $35,000,000 Transit Lines Would Cover Hub

REACH OUT TO EAST BOSTON AND NORTH CAMBRIDGE

These new transit lines were advocated before the Senate committee by Henry L. Harriman, chairman of the Metropolitan Planning Board. Route number one would start in East Boston, then by tunnel to a point west of Devonshire street, then by a new subway to Park street, then by the Tremont street and the Boylston street subways under Governor square and out Commonwealth avenue, Harvard avenue. Route No. two will start near the North Cambridge R. & M. station and will terminate at Broadway and Tremont street. Number three route would be by a new subway from Tremont street and would run to Huntington avenue and Tremont street, Roxbury.

100 BOY SCOUTS HUNT FOR GIRL

man on a North Andover estate, who had been keeping company with Miss Fiddewig for some time prior to their parting ten days ago, was again questioned by police, but could shed little light on her disappearance or the motive which prompted her to leave home.

Several chums of the missing girl were also questioned by police, but each one expressed the same surprise concerning her disappearance. The only available clue which police have received came by telephone from a man whose name is at present unknown.

His informed officials that he offered a ride to a girl on the main road to Reading on Sunday night. The description he gave tallied in every detail with that of Miss Fiddewig. The girl said she was on her way to Boston.

MEDICINE MEN DOOMED UNLESS WOMEN RECOVER

Yakima, Wash., April 7 (A.P.)—Suspicion among the Indians of the Yakima reservation has marked certain medicine men for death unless three Indian women reported during a mysterious disease recover.

The tribesmen believe the medicine men have cast an evil spell upon the victims. Tribal custom requires them to be put to death if it is proved to the satisfaction of a council that they are responsible.

NEW HAVEN ASKS APPROVAL OF SUBSIDIARY LEASE

Washington, April 7 (A.P.)—Pursuant to a policy of knitting together more closely its subsidiaries, the New Haven Railroad asked the Interstate Commerce Commission today to approve its leasing of the Hartford and Connecticut Western Railroad.

The Hartford line, 125 miles long, is now a part of the New Haven system, but the lease upon it is held by the Central New England Company, one of the New Haven's subsidiaries.

BARON MARRIED 'HOUR BRIDE' FOR MONEY

Copyright, 1927, by New York American, Inc. and Universal Service, Inc. New York, April 7.—Charles that the hasty wedding of the wealthy Florencia Chiodini, American society girl, to Baron de Tornow, an impoverished Russian nobleman, with the trait of a money-grabbing intrigue, marked an unusual pre-

The heiress is widely known in Boston and Brookline society, for before her marriage to the baron she was the fiancée of Edward W. Atkinson, wealthy and socially prominent Boston clubman, whom she failed to become the "ride of an hour" of De Tornow. The girl returned to her father's home after just one hour as a baroness.

A phase of the matrimonial action argued before Justice Arthur S. Tompkins in which Florencia Chiodini, who has a dreamlike establishment in New York, of being the first to secure her wedding of the affluent American girl would relieve the baron's fastened purse.

The Baroness de Tornow, who is a bride in name only, according to Whitely, is now with her mother at a ranch at Santa Fe, New Mexico, recovering from the nervous strain attendant upon the nuptials. It was on Dec. 3 last that the baron led Miss Chiodini to the altar at the Little Church Around the Corner.

While the wedding party was nearing its zenith Miss Chiodini snatched her first around her jewelry and left the hotel. That was the last time the baron ever saw his bride.

Whitely avowed her departure was solely because she suddenly became aware of the "conspiracy" that had resulted in her rash wedding.

Joseph B. Unichs, attorney for the baron, said the nobleman is much distressed at having so commercial an aspect placed upon his nuptials.

In an affidavit Detective Fitzsimmons said that when Baron de Tornow left Russia in 1913 he left a wife and child in that country. He also declared that the baron had borrowed $100 with which to finance his wedding, spending $3 for the ring.

SUNNY SKIES FOR BOSTON AND WARMER SATURDAY

A persistent high barometric pressure centered north of Lake Superior now providing New England with sunny skies is officially predicted to keep Greater Boston cool through tonight and part of tomorrow. A long range hope of rising temperature forecasts on Saturday was placed by the local Weather Man in a low barometric area covering the Rocky Mountain States, provided it is not diverted to the Gulf on its passage eastward.

CLAUDEL TOURS HUB; TO DINE WITH VETS

Accompanied by Congressman Pratt Anderson, J. C. Joseph, Plans and, French consul, and General George Dumont, his attaché, M. Paul Claudel, ambassador from France, in Boston to help the League observe the 10th anniversary of the United States entering the war, today began a busy program by visiting the disabled veterans' exchanges, in Boylston street, right after breakfast.

From the exchange, where he expressed admiration for the work being done by the disabled veterans, he went to Mrs. Jack Gardner's home and visited the museum there. His next stop was at the art museum, where he spent a long time in looking over the collection of Japanese and Oriental prints. Claudel was 35 years in China and is a great lover of Oriental prints. His next stop was at the Harvard Club late in the afternoon, where he spent a long time with Mrs. Russell Codman at the Military Order of the World War dinner at the Bellevue, where he will be the guest of honor and speaker.

Following him on his tour of the city and waiting for him when he stopped during the day was an auto containing secret service and plain clothes men. Police are taking no chances on any demonstration which may be staged in connection with the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

TWELVE MORE OFFER TO ADOPT ROBERTA PRATT

New York, April 7 (A.P.)—Offers to adopt Roberta Jane Pratt, 19 years old, who accuses her foster mother, Mrs. Everett R. Pratt of Des Moines, I., of burning her with a curling iron, continue to pour into the agency for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

Twelve additional offers, some of them from prominent New York residents, were received today. David T. Thompson of this city, who said he was a stepbrother of the girl, said he would oppose return of the child to Mrs. Pratt. Mr. and Mrs. David Thompson of Des Moines, the former claiming to be Roberta's father, also seek custody.

They contend she was illegally taken away from them.

THIEF GETS 275 SILK DRESSES

Robbers stole 275 silk and georgette dresses and two fur-trimmed coats, all valued at $2,545.50, early today from the Quality Dress Shop, No. 450 Washington street, Dorchester.

Sarah Davis of Ferndale street, Dorchester, proprietor, discovered the cleanout when she opened the shop.

Police said the thieves had slipped the catch of a rear window with a knife blade, entering, and then looted the window, departing by a door.

GIRL ASKS HOW TO TAKE MARRIED WOMEN'S JOBS

Trenton, N. J., April 7 (A.P.)—Presumably from a young girl, a letter has been received by Governor Moore asking that he support enactment of a law to prohibit women from working after marriage, unless compelled by absolute necessity. It bears a Newark postmark and is signed "An Orphan."

It seems a pity that single girls and women that need the work cannot get it as these married women are taking the bread from their mouths," complains the writer. "I ask you, do you think it is right?" "Why, right here in Newark men holding city jobs have their wives working just to buy an auto, have a small home or permanent way, now, a $1000 fine."

Given Five Months
New York, April 7 (A.P.)—Harry H. Volk, former internal revenue officer, convicted of having been bribed by George O. Foster, president of the American Piano Company, on an income tax return, was sentenced to five months and to pay a $1000 fine.

BUTLER-BORAH DRY DEBATE TO FILL HALL

By FRED TOYE

Gallery and balconies of Symphony Hall, meeting and debating place, and doorman space will be filled tomorrow night to the last inch permitted by fire laws, when partisans of the wet and dry issues gather to listen to the opening sessions of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, the strong right of the wet; and Senator William E. Borah, chief herald of the dry.

Dr. Butler will reach Boston at 4 p. m. tomorrow, just two hours after his dry opponent arrives. The two leaders, high in Republican ranks, and almost equally irritating to those in the sides of standstill in the party, will take opposite sides in a two-hour debate, sponsored by the Roosevelt Club of Boston, on the question.

Resolved, That the Republican National Convention of 1928 should advocate the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.
Dr. Butler will take the affirmative; Senator Borah, the negative. So keen is the interest in the great national question that it was practically impossible today to locate a single ticket. All seats except those in the gallery are reserved, but those reservations will not hold till 8:15 p. m. At that time, anyone holding an unreserved gallery ticket may take any unoccupied places in the orchestra or balcony.

Those unable to obtain seats in the hall will be able to hear the debate through Stations WJAC and WEAN of Boston and Providence.

"Liquor is the first political question of the hour," today declared Robert M. Washburn, president of the Roosevelt Club, largely through whose personal efforts tomorrow night's affair has been arranged.

"The Symphony Hall meeting is planned by a Republican club in the hope that the Republican party can be stimulated to recognize that liquor, law and order is the first issue to be recognized and met and that it can no longer be ignored."

"For the purpose of this meeting, the club has secured the two most effective speakers in the country. There is no greater senator than Mr. Borah, a Republican. There is no greater Republican lawyer than Dr. Butler."

Dr. Butler, who will lead for the affirmative, will take 45 minutes for his argument. Senator Borah will follow for the negative, taking 60 minutes. This will be followed by a 2-minute rebuttal by Dr. Butler. President Washburn will present the speaker.

Dr. Butler will undoubtedly emphasize statements he has repeatedly made, that the Volstead Act and the Eighteenth Amendment should be repealed, but that until they are repealed, and so long as they are the law of the land, they should be enforced insofar as they do not come into conflict with the Bill of Rights as outlined in the first ten amendments to the Constitution.

"It must not be forgotten that when the movement which resulted in the submission and ratification of the Eighteenth Amendment was going forward, neither political party, at the best of my recollection, ever mentioned it in any way in national platform," he said, in a letter to Mr. Borah, accepting the issue.

"The Eighteenth Amendment came into the Constitution without declaration either for or against the principles upon which it rests in either a Republican or a Democratic national platform."

"I am in favor, specifically and definitely, of the repeal both of the Eighteenth Amendment and of the Volstead Act. I have given such service as I am capable since early manhood to that position. In my judgment, this can be done."

During the 40 minutes that Senator Borah talks tomorrow night, he will give his reasons for believing that the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act should remain in force.

Of Interest to Star Dealers,
Stockholders of Durant Motors, Inc. and to the Public:

task), I here and now pledge my entire personal fortune, guaranteeing not only the financial responsibility of these companies, but the stability of policies and the integrity of the management as well.

It is self evident that without an efficient dealer organization with a dependable outlet for its product, factories cannot properly function, and my plans for the future which I am briefly outlining as promised, have much to do with a well considered program, which program, greatly to the interest of Star Dealers and to the benefit of the Stockholders of Durant Motors, Inc., as well, I sponsor and intend to maintain at my own expense.

Apocrops of the foregoing—
THE sale of automobiles on the much-discussed deferred payment or installment plan is today a most important factor and is largely responsible for the wonderful de-country. Many plans are in vogue—some good, but all, when the customary charges are considered, very expensive. In the interest of Star Dealers my plan contemplates a revolving fund of no inconsiderable amount, which I have set aside for the purpose of financing the sale of Star Cars on a deferred payment contract, the entire cost to the purchaser amounting to an interest charge on deferred payments at the rate of six per cent per annum—all other charges, including fire and theft insurance, to be borne by me.

These obligations will be known as Approved Acceptance Contracts, protected by a proper initial payment, the balance of the purchase price evidenced by six deferred payments of equal amount.

In plain language, the cost to the purchasers of Star Cars on the Approved Acceptance Contract plan is approximately one-third of the present prevailing rates.

* * * * *

In the interest of Star Dealers my plan further contemplates setting aside for their benefit a considerable block of Durant Motors, Inc., stock purchased in the open market, the profits on this stock computed at the end of each year to be distributed to Star dealers based upon pre-arranged schedules and results obtained. There is to be no money investment or obligation on the part of the dealer under this arrangement.

Many curious people will be pleased to know why these unusual personal contributions and this great interest in Star dealers. The answer—Anything that will improve the condition of Star dealers will benefit the Stockholders of Durant Motors, Inc.

And if these same curious people should want to know what most concerns me at this moment—

My answer—That the name Durant shall stand for something better than a foot-ball in Wall Street.

* * * * *

But why the Star to the exclusion of all others in the Durant group?

Because the New Star Six, a brand new creation shown for the first time today, is the greatest automobile with which I have ever been identified.

And, by the way, the new Star Six has been selected as the nucleus around which Consolidated Motors, Inc. is being built, exactly as the Buick in 1908 was used as the nucleus and the keystone of the great General Motors.

To avoid misunderstandings and to lessen if possible the circulation of misleading reports, permit me to add—Consolidated Motors, Inc. has for its object the bringing together of such Independent Motor Companies as will be benefited by the arrangement.

As each Company is in excellent financial condition and as curtailment rather than expansion is contemplated, no public financing will be necessary.

There will be less duplication of effort and energy, and fighting for business along reckless and wasteful lines now prevailing will at once be eliminated.

The plan is constructive—the fundamental purpose to stabilize, to an extent at least, America's First and Greatest Industry.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

"Doll Auction" Terminates
Vincent Varieties in Whirl of Merriment and Adds
More Than $300 to the Club
Fund for Hospital

VINCENT VARIETIES ENDED UP IN A whirl of fun. After Nason Hamlin, auctioneer extraordinary, amid great hilarity, had sold off the dolls belonging to the "Baby" number (and thereby added more than three hundred dollars to the Vincent fund) everyone adjourned to Repertory Hall to put on the finishing touches with a dance. It was for all the world like a costume party (for many of the Varieties came in their "Varieties" outfits) and provided a delightful way in which to add still further dollars to the good round sum the club annually acquires for the hospital.

MISS BETTY SOULE AND MISS BETTY BART-lett, aided and abetted by Miss Mary Oles, were director-in-chief of the dance, and three other young women would have been hard to find. Hand some, too, they were, the first two in white satin costumes of the "Parliaments" number, and Miss Oles in the frilly purple and white "Vincent Girl" frock. The handsome "Hiland Laddies" brava in their plaid and bright tunics, played the waltz rolls admirably. And none more handsome than Miss Eleanor Sears, the drill leader. She looked in on the dance for a while.

THE RECEIVING LINE TRIO was Mrs. S. Huntington Wolcott, Mrs. James Lawrence and Mrs. James Jackson, Jr. Each was in black. Mrs. Wolcott's taffeta, with garlands at the shoulder, Mrs. Lawrence's a sequined set, and Mrs. Jackson's a velvet with gilt tracery. Miss Margery Richardson came to the dance in the stunning gown she wore in the "Shlo Farado." It was all aglow with woven silver on black. Galls effectively she carried a cluster of bright crimson roses. An extremely decorative young girl, Miss Richardson.

MRS. DAVID SEARS FOR THE dance had discarded her very handsome Swannee Bottom costume of rose satin and wore a lovely evening gown. Miss Peggy Porter, the Vincent Club president, did likewise. Congratulations on the success of the "Varieties" flew about Miss Porter's head continuously—everyone declaring them the hit of several seasons. Miss Helen Lovings, back from Europe and a flying visit to Texas, made an appearance at the dance, wearing turquoise blue to set off her blonde coloring.

MISS VIRGINIA CURTIS'S dance gown was a stunning affair of rose, with a rose net and coral scarf wound about the waist and falling to the skirt hem. As Rachel Derby Smith's white costume was richly fringed and equipped by a lavishly decorated train. Miss Edith Wolcott was in title of Chinese red. Miss Hope Patterson wore black. Miss Gail Parker's gown was spangled crepe. Miss Jessie Bancroft wore tinsel lace and she carried several bouquets, spoils of the show, some of a floral tribute that showered on an every fair Vincentite at the end of each performance.

I SAW MR. AND MRS. ALBERT F. BIGELOW AT THE COPELEY Society's private view at the Art Museum and, naturally, both were much interested in the show. Mr. Bigelow, who is the author of "Clayde W. Bigelow," entitled a "Winter Morning." Mrs. Bigelow and her daughter, Mrs. Theodore Elliot, sat in the Vincent Varieties in the "Mothers and Daughters" number that never failed to bring down the house. Mrs. Elliot also does the central figure in the ballet of flowers, a delicate fantasy done to Charles Reppe's waltz, "April Yellow."

OF COURSE, HOLKER ABBOTT WAS AT THE COPELEY exhibition. It would have been a copy affair were he not in attendance. Thomas G. Frothingham, another regular, was there with his pretty daughter, Miss Eleanor Frothingham. Also, Dr. and Mrs. Calvin Page and William Crenshaw Endicott. The Renaissance Gallery is filled with oils and sculptures, and watercolors are in a small nearby gallery. One sees many of import in the picture art, such as Sarah Sear, Philip S. Sear, Anna Coleman Ladd, Dwight Blaney, John Leavitt, Philip L. Hale and Margaret Fitzhugh Browne, as exhibitors. Miss Beatrix portrait of Senator Borah is most timely, just as he is coming to town.

THE THEATRICAL PROGRESSION OF THE WEEK ARRIVING at Thursday brings simultaneously the Hasty Pudding's first public performance, and at the Repertory Theatre Josephine Preston Penobsky's "The Piper." This evening's performance of the Boston University students is fraught with much interest. The Governor and Mrs. Fuller have a box, as do President Daniel Marsh and Dean and Mrs. Walter Scott Alburns. Mrs. Arthur S. Johnson is a patroness, so also are Mrs. Henry Higginson, Miss Alberta Houghton and Mrs. Francis Stewart Kershaw.

BERNHARDT'S SEASON IS WINDING UP IN A BURST OF FESTIVITY, the like of which these semi-traditional tales have never before experienced. Every shipload arriving (and they steam into port by two and threes) include prominent Bostonians doing the tales for the Metropole. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Gannett, with two sons, Thomas and John, are at the Princess. Miss Margaret Leland also is registered at the Princess. So is Miss Louise Greenwood, and the Lewis Proctors, with Miss Jane and Richard Proctor.

OLD BOSTON FAVORITE TO SING AT CHRIST CHURCH Marjorie Moody, soprano, who will be the assisting artist with Bruce and his band for a season's engagement at the Metropolitan Theatre beginning next Saturday, will sing Sunday morning at Christ Church, Old North, before noon. The service begins at 10:45.

When the pastor, the Rev. Ernest J. Donner, heard that Miss Moody was coming to Boston, her former and her communitarian with Laura Adkin, manager for Sousa, and invited Miss Moody to sing at the Pains Sunday service, Miss Moody, before her work with Sousa, was a church singer in Greater Boston, and has many friends here.

G. A. R. Head Dies William R. Brown, commander of the Massachusetts department of the G. A. R., and also commander of the 10th Central Postal Directory, died at the Boston City Hospital.

That is a reasonable question. SECRETARY HOOVER says the railroads are now in fine condition, supplying "completely adequate service." He thinks this "vindicates private ownership."

It shows, at least, that private ownership is working well, as it will mean when government guarantees railroad owners good earnings, including interest on their mistakes and much water.

Private ownership of railroads is going to stay as long as prosperity stays—everybody knows that. If things became very bad of course, railroads would say to the government, "please take us."

IT SHOULD not be overlooked, and Secretary Hoover knows it, that the United States Post Office also gives "completely adequate service," and is not under private ownership. Mr. Hoover could not imagine any private enterprise carrying a letter from the southern tip of Florida to the northern end of Alaska for two cents.

THIS COUNTRY entered the World War officially ten years ago yesterday. And when we did go we went in with a splash, millions of men sent across the ocean, to countries that wouldn't have sent us one man under similar conditions. Billions of dollars sent to countries that wouldn't have sent us twenty-five cents under similar conditions.

WE don't regret it; nothing is more valuable than experience even if you don't make the world quite safe for democracy. But let's have we will be cautious about going into future wars, and, especially, about paying nations as much as five billion dollars.

Mr. John D. Rockefeller tells me that you keep hands and clubbed even when you are not fighting. I suggested yesterday that you should not do this. You say that you have heard of a point where clubbed hands are beyond hands, and that a point occurs just as the clubbed hands get to the back of the neck. Here it swings. I then takes up the black in your wrist. I do in a hawser. While you can arrest the motion of hands and arms almost instantly, the fight backward, the clubbed cannot be arrested so quickly. So it goes on a trifle because of your hands. I must have a short taken care of that, however, and nothing that you watch out for is this. Just as you reach the top of your back swing hold onto the arms firmly. Your grip must never loosen.

All the Toms, Richards, and Henrys want tickets, and so do their sisters and their cousins and their aunts, as the old song put it. If requests means a thing, the Boston Area will be bulging at the sides when the Bruins and Senators face off this p. m.

Boston still has the world series habit. The village used to go crazy about the baseball classic. Now it's wild over the ice fable. The pro game, in the last couple of winters, has furnished this section with a good course of instruction in the French language, as she is spoken in the Canada.

The boys who revert to this and dat on occasion can roll the names of the ice stars off their tongues with a fine Gallie flavor. They figure that birds can give it and take it, like some of the stars from up over the border, who they have learned to honor them by proper pronunciation.

So the vigorous part of hockey, and it has that part, has worked an educational influence. The same may be a good argument to lose at the reformers, who now and then argue that the boys should be made of paper. To judge the chances of physical injury and riots and such pleasant incidentals.

Seriously, though, the husky, fighting Bruins will find themselves in the moral of a gang of real friends this evening. They will have the largest support of the multitude. That means something, as hockey is a melting pot. The Bruins have proved their gameness and class, whenever they stepped into a tough spot. They do not wish to under fire.

last year's winner, Harry Saunders of Windsor, N. S., and Foxorot Carleton of East Sandwich are number one among those expected to give DeVlar a battle for premier honor.

Gov. Alvan T. Fuller has donated a trophy for the winner to be known as the Governor's cup. A handsome clock, the gift of William J. Foley, district attorney, will be the time prize.

Title Event to Feature Metropolitan S. C. Tank Meet at Somerville "Y" Tonight

By GEORGE W. GRIMM

The women's senior diving championship is the feature event of the tank meet of the Metropolitan Swimming Club at the T. M. C. A. pool, Highland avenue, Somerville, to-night.

The title event will find four of the leading divers of the Women's Swimming Association of Brookline competing.

Among the divers are: Margaret Lee, Christiana Morrison, Esther Morrison, and Helen Gould. They are all brilliant performers.

Four other events, 50-yard back stroke, 60-yard breast stroke, 60-yard free style, all leading races, and a 50-yard race for the girls of the Metropolitan Swimming Club, will be on the program.

George W. Grimm, Holland street, Woburn, and a member of the Metropolitan Swimming Club, has been in the 50-yard back stroke.

Beneficial experience of every competitor and every audience are offered for the first time in the history of the event.

LOUGHRAN WINS OVER KIRBY

Philadelphia, Pa., April 7.—Tom Kirby, Eastern best light heavyweight, lost a fight to Tommy Loughran, a native of Philadelphia, who was appointed by Tommy Loughran, ace of all the challenges among the hundred and seventy-pounders, after ten rounds of fast boxing. The fight was staged at the New Army A. A.

The fight developed into a scientific scrap, neither boxer doing the other any damage. Kirby threw a few of left hooks to Tommy's stomach but they made no impression on the Philadelphia. Several times Loughran sent Kirby back on his heels with wicked lefts but he missed repeatedly with a right hook which he has been practicing to develop into a knockout punch.

Both men fought like polished boxers and the referee, from the point of view of the fight was a useless affair. Despite the closeness of the fight, Kirby looked every one of the 140 pounds. Kirby weighed a hundred and seventy-three pounds and Loughran a hundred and seventy-eight pounds.

Mello's Pilot Sings as Fight Offers Pile Up

By Jack Conway

FOR a few seconds today I thought Bobby Goldman, manager of Sockin Al Mello, intended to run an opposition show to John McCormack, said Mr. Boston as he button-holed Nick Flitely and asked for a couple of tickets for tonight's hockey game. "I met Goldman up in front of the Suffolk Club's office on Washington street," resumed the veteran as he placed the facts in his wallet, "and he was singing 'I Hear You Calling Me'."

"I know Bobby well enough to tell him that he was in very poor voice. Of course this may have been due to the early morning air or to the fact that Mello's pilot had neglected to sleep for 48 hours or so."

"Dinky Shea, the high pressure theatrical line developer, was in the city, which led me to believe that maybe Mello and Goldman were going to appear in a musical act at one of our Boston show houses."

"When do you open?" I asked Bobby.

"He was so intent upon his singing that he apparently didn't hear my question. So I repeated it."

"For answer Bobby took a bunch of telegrams out of his pocket. There was one from Lew Hayward, matchmaker for Humbert Fugazy, offering Mello a bout on the same card with Felix Lasso and Joe Dundee at the Polo Grounds, New York, on June 2."

"There was another from Pittsburgh, one from Chicago, two from Los Angeles and one from Frisco."

"All because Mello flattered Eddie 'A' Roberts in a round," said Bobby.

"Do you wonder that I am singing, and in the morning, too?"

"Guess you had the right dope when you told Tex Rickard that Mello, Fuller and Yacco would soon join Kirby and Maloney in the big parade over in New York."

"Bobby examined each of the telegrams again. He then resumed his singing, while his eyes blinked from the lack of sleep. I suggested that it might be a good idea for him to hit the hay."

"That would be a good idea," replied Bobby. "But how can I sleep with messenger boys delivering telegrams to me from promoters every ten minutes and with long distant telephone calls coming in on an average of one every five minutes. I can now understand why some of the managers of champions take a shot of synthetic gin now and then. They have to do something to get away from those telephone boys."

"Goldman went on with his singing in the same nonchalant manner that Mello knocks over his opponents. Bobby is on top of the world and is getting his great big kick out of life."

"Mello has been written about Mello. And most of it has been true. From mill boy at $14 a week to a position in the ring where he can demand a $15,000 guarantee for thirty minutes of effort is quite a jump. And all within a period of three years. Which may be another argument in favor of the enduring power of a knockout punch over a flock of college degrees."

"I think, though, that Goldman is entitled to a few bouquets. He saw a coming champion in Mello when the latter shaped up as merely a strong, awkward kid. He nursed him through the amateurs until he won a national title and the right to represent your Uncle Sam at the Olympics."

"He shot him in with Phineas Boyle, Bob Lowrie and then with the masterful Eddie Shelvin. And he came through for him. Then Jimmy Jones, Meyer Cohen, Morris Schiller, Jack Zivio, George (Old) Lee and finally the Terror of the West, Eddie Roberts."

"Bobby's good faith in Al has been vindicated. They will all now tell you they always considered Mello a coming champion. That's the old baloney. For a time Goldman was virtually alone in signing the praises of the Lowell boy. He has now made the gang join in the chorus. So let him wander around our main thoroughfares singing as he goes. There was a time when nobody would give him a song of praise for Mello's triumph."

Hints on Success With a Washing Machine

By MARTHA LEE
"DO NOT ask the clothes when you use a machine?"
"Is it necessary to bolt them after washing?"
"How long do you let the washer operate?"

These are only a few of the many questions which women ask. The washing machine is a machine which has taken its place in the home. It is a machine which has made the washing of clothes a thing of the past. It is a machine which has made the washing of clothes a thing of the past. It is a machine which has made the washing of clothes a thing of the past.

Before answering questions and giving plain rules for successful machine washing in every case, I want to take this viewpoint that such and such a device or labor-saver "won't work."

Whenever I hear this comment so forthrightly expressed I am reminded of a friend who once bought a fireless cooker. She knew I told her a fireless cooker was a thing of the past. She was so sure she was not to be deceived that she bought one.

"What was the matter with it?" I questioned.
"Oh, it was defective," she assured me. "I put the cereal in at night and when I took the pot out in the morning it was cold. The cereal was still raw. No one can make me believe you can cook in that cold box. I sent it right back to the manufacturer in three days."

Now, my friend, thought and probably still think that she bought a defective cooker, but I know that she had not learned to use the cooker right. And so whenever I hear a woman say that a certain well-advised device "won't work" I am certain that the device will work if the woman only understands and operates it intelligently. And this applies to washing machines.

Whatever type of washing machine a selected good washing machine is, it is a machine which will work if the woman only understands and operates it intelligently. And this applies to washing machines.

"You Said It, Marceline!"

MEN who WORK STRENUOUSLY all day long, often when they are THROUGH, for some tender, FRAGRANT SHOULDER on which they may REST—temporarily.

But this is fairly HARD to FIND. A wife's SHOULDER, though SECURE, gets sometimes HARD. And a SWEETHEART, though smooth, is not always TENDER.

On "Where's That Peace?"

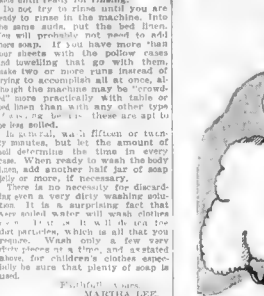

It seems a man cannot GO OUT and BUY THE PEACE he craves. And yet NO WOMAN can give such SUCCESSFUL AWAY MEKLEY for the ASKING.

By Marceline d'Alroy

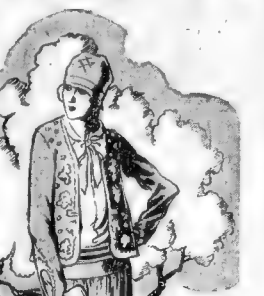

Some men MARRY to find this RESPIRE. But, though they find the WOMAN, they fail to get the COMFORT. Still, NO MAN ever KNOWS what is WAITING for him. OR WHO!

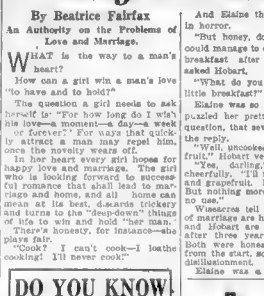

Latest From Paris Honesty Essential to Lasting Love

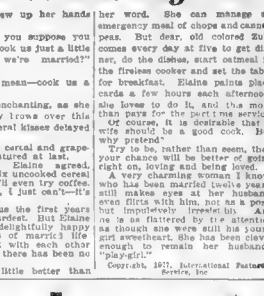

By Beatrice Fairfax
An Author on the Problems of Love and Marriage.
What is the way to a man's heart?
How can a girl win a man's love to have and to hold?
The question a girl needs to ask herself is "For how long do I wish his love—momentary—day—week or forever?" For says that quick romance that shall lead to marriage and home, and all home can mean at its best, is a tricky business. There's honesty for instance—ah! "Cook? I can't cook! I loathe cooking! I'll never cook!"

And Elaine threw up her hands in horror. "But honey, do you suppose you could manage to cook us just a little breakfast after we've married?" asked Hobart. "What do you mean—cook us a little breakfast?" Elaine paused place cards a few hours each afternoon. She loved to do it, and the more than pays for the part-time service. Of course, it is desirable that a wife should be a good cook. But why pretend? Try to be, rather than seem, then your chance will be better of getting right on, loving and being loved. A very charming woman I know, who has been married twelve years, still makes eyes at her husband, even after all this time. And he is as attracted by it as ever, as though she were still his young girl sweetheart, the has been clever enough to remain her husband's "playgirl." While themselves taking up, in all things, the matter of making something really progressive out of the old and the new world.

"I want to express myself," they say. "That is what you're looking for. That is what's most essential. A chance to express myself."

And they are quite right. They do have a chance to express themselves. All the chance RIT— the right self is in it that each wishes to express.
